

Figure 1. Sediment triad results by study region. For each region, one pie chart shows the percentage of the stations in four categories based on results from the three sediment tests. The other pie chart shows an estimate of the proportional area of the region that falls into the four categories.